SUNDAY 3 (A) of EASTER

THE LITURGY OF THE WORD

1st Reading; Acts of the Apostles 2; 44ff

God raised Jesus to life and we are the witnesses of this.

Psalm 15

Show us, Lord, the path of life.

2nd Reading 1 Peter 1: 17 ~ 21.

Your ransom was paid in the precious blood of Christ.

The Gospel; Luke 24:13 ~ 35.

They begged him to stay with them.

For your prayer and reflection

I realise how often I am in the same situation as the disciples; fed up, 'scunnered'. How often I feel sad or let down, even angry and disappointed by the events around me, how often I am frustrated like these two.

The Resurrection seems something vague, that does not really fill me with hope. Yet I too feel this yearning to know Jesus in my life, who would give me light and direction and meaning. I pray to recognise Jesus is at my side, even when it feels he is far away. I am not always aware of him because he is walking at my pace, patiently waiting for me to open my heart to his words and to the Gospel. I pray I may have that experience that my heart too is burning in his presence.

Stop Rosebank. Earth Day sees peaceful action at Westminster as Rosebank shows issues of climate change, energy bills, global justice, jobs & rampant capitalism are the same; we can take action here - at least let's email our MPs: www.actionnetwork.org.

Guarantee the Essentials. Joseph Rowntree Foundation reports 460,000 people in Scotland live in very deep poverty, up from 310,000 in 1997; UK government must increase Universal Credit so it at least covers the cost of essentials; more info and show our support: www.trusselltrust.org.

14 million

3.7 million
workers live in poverty

8 million
children and adults
in working families are in poverty

Wages Not Weapons. The UK government announced more military spending in the 2023 budget but CND says instead we should pay fair wages and invest in the NHS, housing, transport and action on climate change; we can read more and sign up to show support for the campaign: www.cnduk.org.
